ExpressPark

Please join us in welcoming Peer Ghent from the Los Angeles Department of Transportation (LADOT) for a presentation on ExpressPark, a proposed Downtown Los Angeles Intelligent Parking Management Project. Spearheaded by LADOT, ExpressPark intends to be a comprehensive strategy to relieve traffic congestion, reduce air pollution, and improve transit efficiency in Downtown through the implementation of demand-based parking pricing. Similar to congestion pricing, demand-based parking pricing also intends to encourage a modal shift to carpooling, bicycling, and public transportation.

Continental breakfast will be provided.

Please RSVP by Monday, August 2, 2010, to Aleeza Miller at amiller@ccala.org,
